Recalls Dreyfus Case.

Another French officer has been convicted of attempting to sell secrets to a foreign power and has been condemned to life imprisonment in a fortress and, of course, to be degraded from his rank in the navy. This recalls the case of Capt. Dreyfus, largely because it is different. There has always been a strong suspicion that the Dreyfus affair was a "put up job" in so for as the accusations against that unfortunate man were concerned. Certainly no conclusive proof that he was guilty of treasonable acts was ever submitted, while the wicked conduct of some of his accusers was amply demonstrated. In the latest instance the accused person has made full confession, or at least is officially reported to have done so, after being "caught with the goods." But even with the strong testimony against him. remarks the Troy (N. Y.) Times, he was not humiliated as was Dreefus, who for various reasons was the vietim of peculiarly venomous persecution, though dilatory justice was finally done.

The American Machinist says smokelessness can be obtained by perfect combustion, "and approximately perfeet combustion can be obtained by proper boiler and furnace design and arrangement." This is not new information, but is very well understood by engineers and builders, yet the newest buildings, erected in other respects according to the most modern ideas, neglect to provide these proper arrangements. At least the heavy smoke issuing from their chimneys would indicate as much.

SPECIAL LAWS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN BRIEF MESSAGE TO CONGRESS URGES NEEDED LEGISLATION.

FAVORS REVISION OF TARIFF

Passage of Hepburn Bill. Amending Sherman Anti-trust Law, Providing for Registry of Trust Agree-ments Urged at This Session.

Washington, D. C. - President Receivelt Wednesday sent to both cuses of Congress his special message, announced several days ago, calling attention to legislation which he deems it important should be passed at this session.

A special plea is made for the enactment of a child labor law for the District of Columbia; the immediate received the enactment of the employers liability law; a law providing for the payment of compensation for injury or death received by employes of the Government; amendment of the law governing the issue of injunctions in labor disputes; amendment of the interstate commerce and antitrust laws so as to permit the formation of combinations not in conflict with public policy; early financial legislation along the A special plea is made for the enact-the court or in measur case of urgency. I scale call attention to the argent faced of amending the interstate commerce law and especially the anti-trust law along the lines indicated in my last message. The interstate commerce law should be amended so as to give railroads the right to make truffic agreements subject to those agreements being approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission and published in all of their details. The Commission should also be given the power to make public and to pass upon the issuance of all securities hereafter issued by railroads doing an interstate commerce business.

A law should be passed providing in effect that when a Faderal court determines to place a common carrier or other public willing.

effect that when a Faderal court determines to place a common carrier or other public utility concern under the control of a receivership, the Attorney General should have the right to nominate at least one of the receivers; or eise in some other way the interests of the stockholders should be consulted, so that the management may not be wholly redelivered to the man or men the failure of whose policy may have incressitated the creation of the receivership. Receiverships should be used, not to operate roads, but as speedily as possible to pay their debts and return them to the proper owners.

Some Lawful Combines.

In addition to the reasons I have already urased on your attention, it has now become important that there should be an amendment of the anti-trust law, because of the uncertainty as to how this law affects combinations among labor men and farmers, if the combination has any tendency to restrict interstate commerce. All of these combinations if and while existing for and engaged in the promotion of innocent and proper purposes, should be recognized as legal. As I have repeatedly pointed out, this antitrust law was a most unwisely drawn statute. It was perhaps inevitable that in feeling after the right remedy the first attempts to provide such should be crude; and it was absolutely imperative that some legislation should be passed to control, in the interest of the public, the business use of the commous aggregations of corporate wealth that are so marked a feature of the modern industrial world. But the present anti-trust law, in its construction and working, has exemplified only now well the kind of legislation which, under the guise of being thorough-going, is drawn up in such sweeping form as to become either ineffective or else mischievous.

In the modern industrial world combinations are absolutely necessary; they are necessary among business men, they are necessary among business men, they are necessary among laboring men, they are necessary among aboring men, they are necessary among farmers. Some of these combinations are among the most powerful of all instruments for wrongdoing. Others offer the only effective way of meeting actual business needs. It is mischievous and unwholesome to keep upon the statute books unmodified a law, like the anti-trust law, which, while in practice only partially effective against vicious combinations, has nevertheless in theory been construed so as sweepingly to prohibit every combination for the transaction of modern business. Some real good has resulted from this law. But the time has come when it is importative to modify it. Such stake of the farmers.

Dangers to Se Avoided.

It has now become uncertain how far this law may involve all labor organizations as well as all business organizations, in conflict with the law; or, if we secure literal compliance with the law, how far it may result in the destruction of the organizations necessary for the transaction of modern kusiness, as well as of all labor organizations necessary for the transaction of modern kusiness, as well as of all labor organizations necessary for the transaction of modern kusiness, as well as of all labor organizations and farmers' organizations and farmers' organizations are necessary for the transaction of modern kusiness, as well as of all labor organizations and put back haif a century the promess of the movement for the hetterment of labor. of tence-bly obtaining from employers satisfactory terms for their labor. Nothing stonal the done to lexalize either a blacklist or a boycett that world be like and at common law, this being the type of the property of the commission.

The question of financial legislation is now receiving such attention in both houses that we have a right to expect action before the close of the session. It is urgently necessary that there should be taken to establish postal savings banks. These postal savings banks are imperatively needed for the benefit of the wage-workers and men of small means, and will be a valuable adjunct to our whole financial system.

The time has come when we should prepare for a revision of the tariff. This should be, and indeed must be preceded by careful investigation. It is preclarily the province of the Congress and not of the President, and indeed peculiarly the province of the House of Representatives to organize a tariff bill and to determine upon its terms; and this I fully realize.

Remove Wood Pulp Dury.

I am of the opinion, however, that one change in the tariff could with advantage be made forthwith. Our forests need every protection and one method of protecting them would be to put when the free list wood pulp, with a corresponding reduction upon paper made from wood pulp, when they come from any country that does not put an export duty upon them. Ample provision should be made for a permanent Waterways Commission, with whatever power is required to make it ef-fective.

Numerous bills granting water power rights on navigable streams have been introduced. None of them give the Government the right to make a reasonable charge for the valuable privileges so granted in spite of the fact that these water power privileges are equivalent to many the usuals of acres of the best coal lands for their preduction of power. Nor is any definite time limit set, as should always be done in such cases. I shall be obliged hereafter, in accordance with the policy stated in a recent message, to veto any water power bill which does not provide for a time limit and for the right of the President or of the Secretary concerned to fix and collect such a charge as he may find to be just and reasonable in each case.

Discuss Copyright Amendments. Washington-Arguments were continued Friday before the two patent committees of congress, sitting as a joint body regarding the bills to amend and consolidate the acts respecting copyright. The bills especially referred to were those introduced by Senator Smoot and Representative Currier. Objection to certain features in the measures was found by all the speakers, the burden of their complaints being that the bills do not afford the relief sought.

Hearing on Car Shortage Bills.

Washington-At a continued hearng Friday before the house commerce commitstee on bills designed to do away with car shortages, the committee was addressed in support of the measures by T. B. McPherson of Omaha, president of the National Livestock exchange, and others.

Dear Sir: It is with pleasure that I reply to your request. Some years ago I took up a homestead for myself and also one for my son. The half section which we own is situated between Rouleau and Drinkwater, adjoining the Moose Jaw creek, is a low level and heavy land. We put in 76 acres of wheat in stubble, which went 20 bush els to the acre, and 30 acres of sum mer fallow, which went 25 bushels to the acre. All the wheat we harvested this year is No. 1 hard. That means the best wheat that can be raised or theearth. Wedidnot sell any wheat yes as we intend to keep one part for our own seed, and sell the other part to people who want first-class seed for there is no doubt if you sow good wheat you will harvest good wheat We also threshed 9,000 bushels of first-class oats out of 160 acres. 86 acres has been fall plowing which yielded 90 bushels per acre, and 80 scres stubble, which went 30 bushels to the acre. These oats are the best kind that can be raised. We have shipped three car loads of them, and got 53 cents per bushel clear. All our grain was cut in the last week of the month of August before any frest could touch

Notwithstanding the fact that we have had a late spring, and that the weather conditions this year were very adverse and unfavorable, we will make more money out of our crop this year than last.
